

Coal supply to non-power sector to be around 130 mt in FY23: Minister

EQUITABLE SHARE. So far, despatches to the sector have been around 61 million tonnes

Rishi Ranjan Kala
New Delhi

Pralhad Joshi, Union Minister for Coal and Mines

The Coal Ministry plans to supply around 130 million tonnes (mt) of coal to the non-power sector industries such as steel, cement and sponge iron in the current financial year, ending March 2023. So far, despatches to the sector have been around 61 mt.

As per the latest provisional data, coal despatches to non-power sector industries stood at 48.66 mt, down 13 per cent y-o-y, during the April-October period of FY23.

"Providing coal to the power sector is very important; it is crucial for the overall development of the country. The non-power sector is also an important component of the industry. We have been consistently raising the supply to them," Coal Minister Pralhad Joshi told businessline.

In FY19, the coal supply to the sector stood at 116 mt, which declined marginally to 115 mt in FY20. The despatches again increased to 128 mt in FY21 and 121.7 mt in FY22, he added.

"This year we will also exceed our previous numbers. So far, we have supplied around 61 mt to the sector, which we will take up to approximately 130 mt in FY23," the minister said.

COAL PRODUCTION
Emphasising that coal is important for India's eco-economic development, Joshi pointed out that the commodity is the mainstay for power generation.

"All put together, total coal despatches in 2014 were 572 mt, and this year (FY22), India achieved 817 mt. In the ongoing year (FY23), we are going to achieve domestic coal production of 900 mt, inclusive of commercial, captive, abundant mines and Coal India," the minister said.

Joshi stressed that coal will continue to be a key commodity for India for the next 30-40 years, and it is important that production keeps pace with demand so that imports can be stopped.

The Coal Ministry has set a target to produce 1.3 billion tonnes by FY25 and 1.5 billion tonnes by FY30.

1 m barrels a day imported from Russia in October

Our Bureau
New Delhi

India's appetite for Russian crude oil surged multifold, from less than 1 per cent before February 2022 to 21 per cent in October, with the world's third largest energy consumer importing almost 1 million barrels per day. From a market share of less than 1 per cent in India's import basket before the start of the Russia-Ukraine conflict, Russia's share of India's imports rose to 4.24 million tonnes, or nearly 1 million barrels per day, in October, taking a 21 per cent share comparable to that of Iraq and higher than Saudi Arabia's share of around 15 per cent in the country's import basket in the same month, S&P Global data showed.

Shreyans Baid, a senior oil analyst for South Asia at S&P Global Commodity Insights, said since the voyage time to India from Russian ports ranges from 2-5 weeks, the crude that arrived in October must have been purchased months in advance.

"But future purchases of Russian crude by Indian refiners will depend on how the EU ban shapes up the seaborne trade and whether Russian crude makes economic sense, given high freight rates and the market structure," he added. India's appetite for Russian crude in October rose to levels not seen in recent years and surpassed volumes shipped by leading West Asian suppliers, as refiners rushed to snap up plentiful cargoes ahead of any potential shipping or policy hurdles once the EU's sanctions kick in.

"As refiners start up from planned maintenance schedules, Indian crude imports have seen a jump in October and are likely to stay healthy in upcoming months. Despite the jump in Russian crude inflows, overall, the Middle East as a region still remains the largest supplier to India, with a combined share of close to 55 per cent," Baid said.
